HAVE YOU SENT YOUR DOLLAR?

TO REPUBLICANS:
We are anxious to have every Republican in close touch, and working in harmony with the Republican National Congressional Committee in favor of the election of a Republican Congress.
The Congressional campaign must be based on the administrative and legislative record of the party, and, at being so, Theodore Roosevelt's personality must be a central figure and his achievements a central thought in the campaign.
We desire to maintain the work of this campaign with popular subscriptions of One Dollar each from Republicans. To each subscriber we will send the Republican National Campaign Text Book and all documents sent by the Committee.
Help us achieve a great victory.

GOVERNORS' DAY, STATE FAIR

A Great Gathering of Missourians.

Tuesday, October 2, will be Governor's Day at the State Fair. The Governor, with his staff, and the Governors of several adjacent states will be present. Several companies of the National Guards, political marching clubs of each party, civic and fraternal organizations, with some of the best bands in the state, will join in the parade in honor of the occasion.
The Governor will deliver an address, dedicating the new Live Stock Pavilion. Other speakers of national reputation will be present. Many Missourians from other states will take advantage of this occasion to meet old friends, to be shown the rapid advancement of the state, and pay tribute to its grandeur and to honor its achievements.

A great program has been arranged. Sensational turf performers will contest for supremacy; efforts will be made to lower the world's harness record on the best track in the Mississippi Valley. High school saddle horses will be on exhibition. Herds of live stock with an international reputation will fill the great Live Stock arena. Ladies' equestrian contest will be an interesting feature. The greatest display of big Missouri mules ever made in the history of the world will prove an unusual attraction.

Tuesday, October 2, will be a great day in the history of the State Fair.

Uncle Jake Says:

Haf th' trouble of this life is in learnin' to do without things.
Idleness is th' daddy of them two husky youngsters, Poverty and Hunger.
Makin' hay while th' sun shines keeps th' grass from growing under yore feet.
Th' trouble with th' vineless pertater is that it's also th' pertaterless pertater.
Ther's allers two sides to an argyment but either side is considerably less than half of it.

You can learn lessons from the misfortunes an' mistakes of other people without bein' a flosifer.

"Broken English" is all rite provided it ain't confined entirely to th' ten commandments.

Did you ever notis that it's th' steddly-gaited hoss that kivers the most miles in a day in th' easiest way?

Th' most prosperous people in this country is them that quits mindin' things that ain't none uv their business and pays more attention to their own business.

After a man gits to be rebout forty years old he puts in lots uv time takin' inventory of them things that he thot he knew all about an' sifin' out that which is no account.

Worryin' over th' other feller's bad deeds don't do no good unless it teaches you not to do 'em yoreself.

If cannin' is such a good way to keep spiled things, sum uv us ought to put our konshences in cans.

An Interesting Race.

In the race between nature and the government to see which shall first solve the water problem in the arid regions of the west, nature appears to be leading by several laps.

While Uncle Sam is digging and building at an immense expenditure of money a ditch here and there or perhaps building a dam, which when completed can afford a water supply for a few hundred thousand acres, the rain belt is steadily and surely extending.

The old settler remembers when the American desert began at Junction City. Now it begins beyond the mountains. Nearly all the territory this side of the Rockies is producing crops of some kind, without the aid of irrigation. Even the Texas panhandle which a generation ago was regarded as utterly worthless is being settled up rapidly and is producing crops on the strength of the rainfall.

There may and probably will be droughts in the recently developed agricultural territory, as there were in eastern and central Kansas less than a half century ago, but as the cultivated area grows the dry seasons will become less frequent and less severe and finally disappear as they have throughout Kansas.

Indications point strongly to the coming of a time, not many years hence when the irrigation department of the government will find itself out of a job. This is no theory, but is a condition based on what has transpired within the past fifty years and is going on today.

Oak Grove.

Delayed letter:
—Jack Knox is still working for Mr. Fancher.

—Our school opens September 10th, Miss Gertie Blair, teacher.

—Miss Rutha Greenlee spent Saturday and Sunday with home folks.

—The home of Mr. Robert Johnson looks fine with its new coat of paint.

—J. Fancher is back at his old home place, looking as pleasant as can be. We believe he likes Oklahoma.

—Mrs. L. K. Melvin went to Craig, Monday, to take treatment of Dr. Davis. We are sorry her health is so bad.

—Lute Meade had two good spring wagons washed away by the recent big rain and they were badly damaged.

—The superintendent of our Sunday school was not well last Sunday, but we are all glad he was yet able to fill his place.

—Miss Anna Strickler is going to spend the winter in Southern Missouri. We will all miss her in our Sunday school.

—Mr. and Mrs. Greenlee were out buying peaches at the Elex Cooksey place one day last week, and just ask little Ernest where he likes to go and who to see, and he will soon tell you.

—Elex Cooksey was in St. Joseph part of last week, and is down there again this week. We have not heard as yet when he will return home, but we understood this was his last load of peaches.

—The big rain we had recently did lots of harm to the roads. The bridges by J. Knox was washed out and once by J. Taylor's also washed away; also two other bridges, and the big fill, all on the road to Forbes.

—The many friends of Mrs. Lizzie Cooksey are glad to know she is improving again. She was very sick three or four days last week and class No. 1 in our Sunday school was greatly disappointed by her absence.

In many respects the Toledo Blade is the most remarkable weekly newspaper published in the United States. It is the only newspaper especially edited for national circulation. Furthermore, it is the cheapest newspaper in the world, as will be explained to any person who will write us for terms. The News of the World so arranged that busy people can more easily comprehend, than by reading cumbersome columns of details. All current topics made plain in each issue by special editorial matter written from inception down to date. The only paper published especially for people who do not read daily newspapers, and yet thirst for plain facts. That this kind of a newspaper is popular, is proven by the fact that the Weekly Blade now has over 185,000 yearly subscriptions, and is circulated in all parts of the U. S. In addition to the news, the Blade publishes short and serial stories, and many departments of matter suited to every member of the family. Only one dollar a year.

—If every farmer would be as persistent in cleaning the roadsides of weeds as the railroads are in keeping their right of way clean, it would add greatly to the beauty of the country. Compare some of the public roads with the railroads and the former suffer by comparison.
